GENE KLEIN

President

Gene Klein has watched the San Diego Chargers come a great distance since he took an active, day-to-day interest in their operation 10 years ago. He rebuilt the team and the organization and the results have been outstanding.

The Chargers had sold out 40 consecutive home regular-season and playoff games entering the 1984 season. San Diego Jack Murphy Stadium, which once housed Chargers crowds as low as 18,000, has been expanded from its original 52,000 plus to 60,100 to accommodate the demand for seats at Chargers games. (The Stadium will be temporarily expanded to 75,820 seats January 31, 1988, thanks to Klein's diligent efforts that resulted in San Diego's being awarded Super Bowl XXII at the NFL owners' meeting in Washington, D.C., earlier this year.)

The Chargers are one of the most attractive and successful teams in pro football, appearing regularly on nationally televised contests and qualifiers for the NFL playoffs in four of the last five seasons, failing only in 1983, when a total of 131 man-games were lost to injuries; quarterback Dan Fouts missed six games and portions of three others to injuries.

Klein took over the Chargers in 1966 but did not become involved on a day-to-day basis until December, 1973, when he divested himself of most of his business interests other than the Chargers.

Klein's first move after the team finished with a 2-11-1 record in 1973 was to appoint Tommy Prothro head coach. Klein named John Sanders general manager and Tank Younger assistant general manager a year later. Prothro, Sanders, and Younger all were well-versed in the important areas of player personnel and front-office administration. With this nucleus, Klein was able to construct a strong management staff and supervise the development of a team that became one of the most exciting and successful in football.

When Prothro resigned after the fourth game of the 1978 season, Klein selected Don Coryell as head coach. Coryell provided the final ingredient to success. The former San Diego State coach guided the Chargers to seven wins in their final eight games in 1978, to division championships in 1979, '80 and '81 and to playoff berths from 1978-82.

Klein and his staff built the Chargers through the draft and with well-conceived trades; some of those trades brought such outstanding players as Ed White, Chuck Muncie, Kellen Winslow, Tim Fox, and Wes Chandler. The trades also allowed the Chargers to maneuver to three of the first 22 picks in the first round of the 1983 draft.

Klein headed a group that purchased the Chargers for $10 million from Barron Hilton Aug. 25, 1966. The acquisition was small in financial comparison to some of the transactions Klein has made in other areas of American business . . . but Klein had realized a lifelong ambition of owning a professional football team.

Eugene Victor Klein was born in New York City Jan. 29, 1921. He attended New York University and majored in electrical engineering until Dec. 8, 1941, the day after United States military installations were bombed in Pearl Harbor, Hawaii.

The 6-foot, 5-inch Klein enlisted in the Air Force and attained the rank of captain, serving as a bomber pilot in World War II. Klein went into the automobile business in Los Angeles's San Fernando Valley after the war and eventually became Western States distributor of the Volvo automobile.

In 1961 Klein assumed leadership of a company that had $80 million in assets. That company, renamed National General Corporation, became one of the largest corporations in the country under Klein's guidance. Among its holdings were Bantam Books, largest paperback publishing company in the world; Great American Insurance Company, and Grosset and Dunlap publishers. National General also was involved in motion picture production, distribution, and theaters. NGC had assets of $1.2 billion when Klein negotiated the sale of the company 12 years later.

Klein is among the most active NFL owners in civic and charitable projects. He is on the board of directors, Cedars Sinai Medical Center, Los Angeles. He is vice chairman, board of trustees, City of Hope. He is a member of the Los Angeles District Attorney Advisory Council, the Mental Health Association, Variety Club, Big Brothers Boosters, American Cancer Society, and National Cystic Fibrosis Foundation. Klein is a life member of the San Diego Hall of Champions and a member of the Board of Trustees of the San Diego Museum of Art, and the Palm Springs Desert Museum. Klein is also a member of the Board of Trustees, and the Eisenhower Medical Center. He is on the board of directors of the Scripps Memorial Hospital Foundation.

Gene and his lovely wife Joyce maintain residences in Rancho Santa Fe and Palm Springs. Gene has a son, Michael Klein, and a daughter, Randee, both of whom are members of Chargers ownership.

DON CORYELL

Head Coach

12th NFL Season

7th Season with Chargers

San Diego Chargers coach Don Coryell has compiled one of the outstanding records in his profession. Coryell in 1984 can become the sixteenth coach to win at least 100 National Football League games and the Chargers can become the first team to lead the NFL in total offense six years in a row.

The 1983 season, in which injuries put starting players on the sidelines a combined total of 131 games, was only the second losing season in Coryell's 31 years as a head coach on the collegiate and professional level. The Chargers won the AFC West Championship in 1979, 1980, and 1981 under Coryell.

Coryell has won 5 division championships in his 11 years as an NFL coach. His overall record is 95 wins, 58 losses, and 1 tie for a won-loss percentage of .616. He won NFL coach of the year for the 1974 and 1979 seasons.

Coryell came to the NFL in 1973 after 12 years at San Diego State, where his teams posted an overall record of 104 wins, 19 losses, and 2 ties for a won-loss percentage of .840, and turned out numerous professional prospects. It was in college that Coryell realized that the best way to beat an opponent that had more physical ability was with a passing game. His teams at San Diego State achieved national acclaim in this manner and Coryell brought the same ideas with him to the St. Louis Cardinals in 1973 where he won Division Championships in 1974 and 1975.

Donald David Coryell was born in Seattle Oct. 17, 1924. He played at Seattle's Lincoln High and joined the U.S. Army as a private in the ski troops upon high school graduation in 1943. Coryell was a first lieutenant in the paratroopers when he was discharged three-and-a-half years later and entered the University of Washington. Don played defensive back for the Huskies and was graduated with a bachelor of arts degree in 1950. He took a master's degree one year later and accepted his first coaching assignment as an assistant at Punahou Academy in Honolulu. Coryell was head coach at Honolulu Farrington in 1952, then coached two seasons at the University of British Columbia in Vancouver.

Coryell moved to the junior college ranks in Washington in 1955, taking over a Wenatchee team that had been winless the year before. Wenatchee was undefeated under Coryell, who became the athletic director and head coach at the Army base at Ford Ord, California, the following year. Ford Ord emerged as the only unbeaten service team in the country in 1956.

Coryell became head coach at Whittier College in 1957 and led the Poets to a 23-5-1 record, three Southern California Intercollegiate Athletic Conference championships and number-one ranking among U.S. small colleges in total offense and passing in 1959. Coryell then served one year as offensive backfield coach at the University of Southern California before taking over a downtrodden San Diego State program.

Don was named the San Diego Aztecs' head coach Jan. 14, 1961. Coryell immediately embarked on a strong recruiting program and whipped the Aztecs to a 7-2-1 comeback in his first season.

Over the next 11 seasons under Coryell, San Diego State became recognized for great offensive teams and the development of outstanding pro prospects. Among other achievements:

—San Diego State had unbeaten seasons of 11-0 in 1966, 9-0-1 in 1968, and 11-0 in 1969. The Aztecs won 25 games in a row from 1965-67, then went 31 games without defeat.

—Coryell was named College Division district coach of the year in 1963, '66, '67, and '68.

After a 10-1 season in 1972, Coryell was hired by the St. Louis Cardinals of the NFL.

His San Diego State record was 104-19-2.

The Cardinals were 4-9-1 in 1973, Coryell's first season, then put together records of 10-4, 11-3, and 10-4, winning NFC East championships in 1974 and 1975. Coryell was NFL and NFC coach of the year in 1974.

Don and his lovely wife, Aliisa, live in El Cajon and have a son, Mike (July 16, 1957), a graduate in physics from the University of California at San Diego, and a daughter, Mindy, who is the wife of Michael Lewis of El Cajon.

JOHN SANDERS

General Manager

33rd NFL Season

10th Season with Chargers

Few persons in football match the pro football knowledge, experience, and expertise of John Sanders, general manager of the Chargers since Feb. 16, 1976. Sanders was named National Football League executive of the year for 1979 by other NFL executives in a poll conducted by The Sporting News and the Chargers have enjoyed the most successful period in their history since Sanders was charged with the day-to-day operation of the franchise under President Gene Klein.

Sanders joined the Chargers as assistant to the president for player personnel Feb. 6, 1975, after a long association with the Los Angeles Rams, with whom Sanders worked in the areas of personnel and contracts as a scout and front-office executive.

Sanders has been involved with football almost from the time his family moved from San Antonio, Texas, where he was born July 26, 1922, to Van Nuys, California, in Los Angeles' San Fernando Valley. Sanders played football for the Van Nuys High Wolves and was a running back and three-year letterman (1946-48) at Occidental College in Eagle Rock, California.

Johnny was a starter on the 1948 Occidental team that had a 9-0 record, defeated Colorado A&M in the Raisin Bowl in Fresno, California, Jan. 1, 1949, and was the school's first unbeaten squad in 33 years. Sanders is a member of Occidental's Athletic Hall of Fame and Van Nuys Hall of Fame.

Johnny began teaching and coaching in the Los Angeles City Schools system after his graduation from college. He joined the Rams as a parttime scout in 1952 after having been associated with the team during training camps since 1946.

Sanders was head coach at North Hollywood High from 1951-58, posting a 50-16-1 won-lost record, advancing to the Los Angeles City championship game in 1955, and gaining the playoffs six times. Johnny moved to the new Grant High in 1959 and coached there until accepting an invitation from Rams owner Dan Reeves to join the organization fulltime in 1964 as director of player personnel.

Sanders served in that position until his appointment as assistant general manager March 3, 1969.

Johnny and his wife, Peggy, live in San Diego. They have a daughter, Pamela, and a son, Rob, who reside in Los Angeles.

PAUL (Tank) YOUNGER
Assistant General Manager
36th NFL Season
10th Season with Chargers

Tank Younger is in his thirty-sixth season in the National Football League.

Younger's career spans player, scout and administrator, beginning in 1949 as a fullback in the Los Angeles Rams' "Bull Elephant" backfield.

Younger played during what has been described as pro football's Golden Era and he contributed a historic footnote to that period as the first outstanding NFL player from a predominantly black Southern school. Younger was graduated in 1949 from Louisiana's Grambling College, where his size (6-3, 235) and power inspired the nickname Tank.

Younger was named assistant general manager of the Chargers June 17, 1975. He played for the Rams from 1949-57, and served them as a parttime scout from 1958-64 and as a fulltime scout from 1964-75. Younger also played for the Pittsburgh Steelers in 1958. His career totals included 3,640 yards rushing, a 4.7 average, and 35 touchdowns.

Paul Lawrence Younger was born June 25, 1928, in Grambling, Louisiana. He spent most of his early years in Los Angeles. Tank and his wife Lucille, a Los Angeles pediatrician, have a son, Howard (Aug. 31, 1956) and two daughters, Harriette (Dec. 21, 1957) and Lucy (March 6, 1961). Howard is a graduate of the University of Southern California with a degree in business. Harriette is attending medical school at Morehouse University, Atlanta, and Lucy is a graduate student at UC-Berkeley.

JACK TEELE
Assistant to the President
25th NFL Season
4th Season with Chargers

Teele joined the Chargers April 15, 1981, after a long and distinguished career with the Los Angeles Rams.

Jack is one of the most experienced persons in pro football in the areas of public relations, ticket office operations, training camp, game management, and administration. He was the most prominent Rams official in the club's move from the Los Angeles Coliseum to Anaheim, working with stadium officials, architects for stadium expansion, contractors, and city management.

Teele has been a key man in two important projects recently, having served on the San Diego task force that brought Super Bowl XVII in 1988 to San Diego Jack Murphy Stadium and overseeing the preparation and planning for the expansion of the Stadium to 60,100 seats beginning in 1984.

Teele's association with pro football began in 1957, when he was assigned to cover the Rams for the Long Beach Independent-Press Telegram newspaper. He joined the Rams as director of public relations in 1960. Teele was appointed Assistant to the President in 1969 and from 1978 served as Vice President, Administration.

Jack Earl Teele was born June 17, 1930, in Bloomington, Illinois. Teele played basketball for Long Beach Poly High and for the first varsity basketball team at Long Beach State, 1951-52. He was named Long Beach State's Outstanding Alumnus in 1971 and to the Long Beach City College Hall of Fame in 1975. Jack served two years with the Army's Counter Intelligence Corps in Japan, 1952-54. He resides in San Diego with his wife (Marilyn). The Teeles have two daughters, Dana, who is Mrs. Robert Thurston, and Lisa, who is Mrs. Richard Owen.

JOHN TRUMP

Administrative Assistant

32nd NFL Season

7th Season with Chargers

Trump joined the Chargers July 17, 1978, as administrative assistant for player personnel.

Trump is in charge of the player personnel department and coordinates scouting assignments and the NFL draft.

Trump's appointment in San Diego reunited John with Johnny Sanders, the Chargers' general manager who had started with Trump in the Los Angeles Rams' scouting department and who had played in the same backfield with Trump at Occidental College, Eagle Rock, California.

Trump was Little all-Coast and Little-all America as a running back and safety on the 1948 Occidental team. Trump also is a member of the Occidental Hall of Fame.

John became a high-school football and baseball coach in the Los Angeles City Schools in 1950. Three years later he began a 25-year association with the Rams.

He was born John Mountford Trump June 26, 1925, in Glendale, California. Trump played football for the Burbank High Bulldogs and was student body president. John and his wife Jean have two sons, Frank (Nov. 26, 1952), a scout for the Rams, and Richard (Dec. 25, 1954).

AUBREY (Red) PHILLIPS

Chief Scout

18th NFL Season

18th Season with Chargers

Red Phillips travels more than 100,000 miles a year researching college players for the San Diego Chargers' draft. Phillips joined the Chargers as a scout in 1967, and is on the road almost continually in the spring and fall, charting prospects, filing information, and updating records.

Red played collegiately as a center and linebacker at Texas Tech and professionally with Saskatchewan of the Canadian Football League. He coached at Texas Tech, Southwestern Louisiana, and Northwestern Louisiana.

Aubrey Clyde Phillips was born Nov. 14, 1929, in Abbott, Texas. He played football for the Paschal High Panthers in Fort Worth, Texas. Red and his wife Kay reside in Poway. They have three sons, Rusty (May 12, 1953), Mike (Oct. 20, 1955), and Tony (Jan. 11, 1966), and two daughters, Phyllis (May 17, 1964) and Amy (Feb. 2, 1970).

TOM BASS

Defensive Coordinator

21st NFL Season

7th Season with Chargers

This is Bass's third season as the Chargers' defensive coordinator and his seventh year in the Chargers' organization. He coached for the Chargers from 1964-67 after serving as an assistant under Don Coryell at San Diego State from 1961-63. Bass left the Tampa Bay Buccaneers to join the Chargers March 1, 1982. He was a charter member of the Buccaneers' franchise in 1975 as director of pro personnel, moved to assistant offensive coach in 1976, and served as defensive coordinator from 1977-81.

Bass coached for the Cincinnati Bengals from 1968-69. He was out of football in 1970 and served as a Bengals scout from 1971-75. During that time Bass published two books of poetry, "Pro Football From The Inside," and Fly Free My Love." He also served as a contributing editor to five Super Bowl game programs produced by National Football League Properties, Inc.

Thomas Lee Bass was born Aug. 2, 1935, at March Field Air Force Base, Riverside, California. He played high school football in Southern California for the San Bernardino Cardinals. Bass was a linebacker at San Jose State until he was stricken with polio in 1955, about one week before the distribution of the Salk Vaccine. Bass missed a year of school recovering from the disease and Bass makes his presence felt on sidelines.

Teri Cluck

was forced to abandon his playing career. He became a student assistant coach at San Jose State while earning a degree in physical education and biological science and being graduated with academic distinction. Tom was a graduate student at San Diego State when he joined Don Coryell's first staff at the school in 1961.

Since joining the Chargers staff Bass has become a member of the Board of Trustees for the San Diego-based "Journal of Sports Literature."

Bass and his wife, Michelle, reside in Solana Beach. Both are actively involved in supporting the La Jolla Playhouse, located on the campus of University of California at San Diego. They have three sons, Michael (June 1, 1960), a placekicker with the Chicago Bears, Bobby (Nov. 13, 1964), and David (Oct. 19, 1966), and a daughter, Shana (May 7, 1971).

HANK BAUER

Special Offensive Assistant

8th NFL Season

8th Season with Chargers

Bauer is in his first season as Special Offensive Assistant. He was named assistant special teams coach August 3, 1983, and continues to work with the special teams in addition to assisting with the offensive game plan.

Bauer spent six seasons as a Chargers running back and was known for his work as a special teams ace prior to joining the coaching staff.

Bauer was graduated with academic distinction from California Lutheran College, Thousand Oaks, California. He won four varsity football letters and small-college all-America honors, and holds 12 school records.

Henry John Bauer was born July 15, 1954, in Scottsbluff, Nebraska. He played football for the Magnolia High Sentinels in Anaheim, California. Hank is honorary chairman of a golf tournament in his name that gives proceeds to the San Diego Arthritis Foundation. He also co-hosts the annual, 21-hour San Diego Easter Seals telethon with San Diego television personality Jerry Bishop. Bauer resides in the Tierrasanta district.

MARV BRADEN

Special Offensive Assistant

8th NFL Season

4th Season with Chargers

Braden was named Special Offensive Assistant March 8, 1983. He also serves as special teams coordinator and assists in the offensive game plan. Braden was appointed to the coaching staff February 17, 1981. He previously served as the Denver Broncos' special team coach from 1977-80. Braden will continue to coach the special teams in addition to his new duties assisting on the field whenever possible to aid the smooth operation of the Chargers' offense.

The Chargers' appointment meant a return to San Diego for Braden. He served as head coach at United States International University, 1969-73, during which time his teams posted a 26-12-1 record. Braden's first head coaching post was at Northeast Missouri, 1967-68. DAVE LEVY

Offensive Coordinator/ Offensive Line

5th NFL Season

5th Season with Chargers

Levy completed his first season as offensive coordinator in addition to coaching the offensive line for the fourth year. In his first season as offensive coordinator the Chargers led the National Football League in total offense. Levy's offensive line allowed the fewest sacks per passing attempt for the third consecutive year. Charger quarterbacks were sacked once every 2.7 passing tries in 1983. Over the last three years the offensive line has yielded only one sack for 26.8 passing attempts.

Levy coached for sixteen years at the university of than in AFC playoffs, catching 4 passes for 83 yards and 1 touchdown in the 20-14 victory over Buffalo and 6 for 130 and 2 touchdowns in the 34-27 loss to Oakland.

1979 Joiner caught 63 passes in the last 11 regular season games, including 9 each in two games, and 7 for 168 yards in the Chargers' 40-16 rout of Los Angeles . . . Joiner went to the dressing room two times for injuries but got off the floor and caught a 32-yard touchdown pass from Dan Fouts that assured a 17-7 victory over Denver for the Chargers' first AFC West division championship since 1965.

1978 Missed only start as Charger at Kansas City, Nov. 26 . . . also did not make reception in game . . . had 33 catches for 18.4-yard average . . . caught 5 passes for 100 yards and 1 touchdown against Detroit Oct. 22, his first 100-yard effort in two years.

1977 Joiner scored 2 touchdowns with brilliant catches in his first appearance against former Cincinnati teammates as the Chargers took a 24-3 victory.

1976 Joiner had four successive games in which he gained at least 100 yards receiving . . . Joiner was named to the AFC Pro Bowl squad and caught a 14-yard touchdown pass from Ken Anderson of Cincinnati for the winning score in the AFC's 24-14 victory over the NFC in Seattle.

Dave Levy, Chargers' Offensive Coordinator . . .

"The thing that makes Wilkerson so good is his speed. Combine that with the fact he's tough, experienced, and that he loves to play and you've got some player."

Dan Fouts . . .

"He is one of the best guards who ever played. He's not as good as he has ever been, he is better. I can't imagine him getting old, he stays in such good shape."

Sixth Year

Draft 1-'79

PRO: Winslow continues as the most dominant offensive player in National Football League . . . mountainous target in "Air Coryell" offense has caught more passes over past five seasons than any player in NFL . . . Winslow's ability to line up out wide, in slot, in backfield, on line, or in motion gives Chargers' offense its great diversification and stymies defenses . . . pass-catching total of 344 is most for any player in past five seasons; this despite a rookie season of just 25 catches . . . Winslow's first year ended in the seventh game when he sustained a broken bone in his right leg against Seattle Oct. 14 . . . led NFL in receptions in 1980-81 and was second with 54 catches in 1982 and tied in 1983 with 88 receptions . . . Winslow also leads all NFL receivers over the last four seasons, with the Chargers' Charlie Joiner third at 314 and Wes Chandler fourth at 306 . . . tenure as top tight end in NFL continued through 1983 as Winslow gained berth on AFC Pro Bowl squad for fourth consecutive year, starting 3 of 4 years . . . 88 catches one shy of Chargers' record 89 set by Winslow in 1980 . . . set club record with 14 catches versus Kansas City Week 15 . . . earned consensus first team all-Pro honors following 1980, '81 and '82 seasons . . . has caught at least 2 passes in last 43 regular-season games . . . earned offensive-player-of-game honors in Pro Bowl following 1981 season with 6 catches for 86 yards . . . one of the most important acquisitions the Chargers have made in the last several years . . . team President Gene Klein consummated a trade with Cleveland 10 seconds before the 15-minute deadline in first round of 1979 NFL draft . . . the Chargers gave Cleveland their twentieth and forty-seventh choices in the draft for Cleveland's thirteenth selection, and then chose Winslow.

1983 Consistent year long averaging 73.3 yards per game, ahead of career average of 70.5 yards . . . caught at least 3 passes in all but 1 game . . . record 14 catches bested Lance Alworth's 13 catches Nov. 10, 1963, and his own set Nov. 22, 1981, and Jan. 2, 1982; most catches by NFL receiver since 1981.

1982 Caught fire following strike and exceeded 100-yard receiving mark five of first six games and six of nine games including postseason . . . averaged 4 catches in season's first two games and averaged 6.6 catches in 7 regular season games following strike . . . made back-to-back touchdown catches in fourth quarter of Chargers' 31-28 win at Pittsburgh in first round of playoffs . . . Chargers were down 28-17, when Winslow caught first TD pass with 8:42 remaining and made tough run on screen pass from Fouts with minute remaining for winning score.

1981 Winslow's record-setting performance at Oakland Nov. 22—13 catches, 5 for touchdowns—set Chargers record for most points in game with 30 . . . Winslow ended season with 88 catches averaged 7 receptions over final 6 regular-season games and both postseason games . . . Winslow's ability and desire never was more evident than in Chargers' playoff victory in Miami . . . bruised and exhausted, Winslow was helped from the field several times, only to return . . . blocked 43-yard field goal attempt by Miami's Uwe von Schamann with :04 remaining to send the game into overtime . . . scored only Charger touchdown in 27-7 loss in Cincinnati in AFC Championship on 33-yard screen play.

1980 Came of age in second game of season against Oakland . . . caught 9 passes for 132 yards and his 25-yard touchdown reception in third quarter tied game 17-17 and set stage for exciting 30-24 overtime victory by San Diego . . . had career high 171 yards receiving on 10 catches in final regular-season game, a 26-17 triumph over Pittsburgh that gave Chargers second straight AFC West title . . . Winslow's 89 catches bettered Chargers record of 73 by Lance Alworth in 1966, and was fifth-highest one-season total in NFL history . . . earned consensus all-Pro and all-AFC honors and was starting tight end for AFC Pro Bowl squad.

1979 A brilliant rookie season came to an end in the seventh game, when Winslow, leading the team with 25 receptions, suffered a broken bone in his right leg and was lost for the year. COLLEGE, PERSONAL: Born Kellen Boswell Winslow Nov. 5, 1957, in St. Louis, Missouri . . . caught 71 passes for 1,089 yards and 10 touchdowns in four seasons at Missouri . . . led Tigers with 29 catches, 16.5 average, and 6 touchdowns in 1978 . . . consensus all-America and played in Liberty Bowl, East-West Shrine game and Senior Bowl . . . led East-West receivers with 6 catches for 125 yards . . . grew up across Mississippi River in East St. Louis, Illinois, and did not play football for East St. Louis High Flyers until senior year . . . threw discus 172 feet as high schooler . . . likes to play chess . . . was selection on Walter Camp Foundation all-America squad in 1979 . . . commissioner of Kellen Winslow Flag Football League started in San Diego in 1982 offseason . . . member of San Diego Police Department's reserve program dealing with recruitment and community relations . . . resides in Tierrasanta district of San Diego.

Ernie Zampese, Chargers' Assistant Head Coach . . .

"This guy is the most dominant player in the game."

Don Coryell, Chargers' Head Coach . . .

"He has a lot of great capabilities, real size, and is very intelligent. Because of that intelligence, we can do a lot of things with him—motion, shifting, that kind of thing."

Don Shula, Dolphins' Head Coach . . .

"When you think about Winslow, you think about Superman. He does it all, climbs the highest buildings."

1983 Game by Game

Week 1

New York Jets 41, at San Diego 29

Sunday, Sept. 4

The Jets used 51 rushing plays to gain 251 yards and possess the ball :36.31 to the Chargers :23.29 while defeating San Diego, 41-29. The Chargers outgained New York in total yards, 488 to 391, in their most productive offensive game of the year but San Diego yielded four turnovers and could not stop the Jets ground game led by Freeman McNeil's 120 yards. The Jets converted on 4 of 5 fourth down and short yardage situations. Wide receiver Bobby Duckworth had the biggest day of his career catching 4 balls for 110 yards and 1 touchdown. Maury Buford had his top day of 1983 averaging 50.0 yards on two punts including his season long of 60 yards.

Week 2

San Diego 17, at Kansas City 14

Monday, Sept. 12

After surrendering 251 yards on 51 carries in Week 1, the Chargers turned it around and did it themselves by carrying 51 times for 192 yards and holding the Chiefs to 45 yards rushing while defeating the Chiefs, 17-14, on Monday Night Football. Chuck Muncie had the top rushing day for a Charger in 1983 carrying 27 times for 110 yards and 1 touchdown. With :30.07 left to play, Kansas City moved ahead, 14-10, on a 48-yard option pass from receiver Carlos Carson to receiver Henry Marshall. On the Chargers' next possession, Dan Fouts engineered an 80-yard scoring drive, including a 36-yard screen to James Brooks, culminating with a 12-yard touchdown pass to Wes Chandler. The 51 rushing plays were the most for San Diego in 1983 and the 17 completions and 25 attempts were season lows.

Sunday, Sept. 18

The Chargers scored 21 points in the fourth quarter but fell short of Seattle, 34-31, in the Kingdome. Trailing 27-10 at the end of the third quarter, Dan Fouts connected with Eric Sievers on touchdown passes of 26 and 27 yards and with Bobby Duckworth for a 44 yard touchdown, but could not stop Seattle's final drive which took up the final :4.10 remaining in the game. The Seahawks converted two big third-and-short situations on the final drive. Fouts threw for 338 yards and 4 touchdowns with 3 interceptions. Sievers had the biggest day of his career catching 6 passes for 115 yards and 2 touchdowns. The Chargers were powerful through the air though Seattle had the most rushing plays and time of possession of any Chargers' opponent in 1983.

Week 4

Cleveland 30, at San Diego 24

Sunday, Sept. 25

Cleveland's Matt Bahr kicked a 32 yard field goal with :08 remaining in regulation to tie the game and Harry Holt caught a 48-yard touchdown pass from Brian Sipe with 1:52 elapsed in overtime to win it for the Browns, 30-24. Wes Chandler had his top receiving yardage game of 1983 catching 6 passes for 134 yards and 2 touchdowns, both scores coming in the third quarter and giving the Chargers the lead, 24-21. Dan Fouts completed 24 of 38 passes for 351 yards and 3 touchdowns. Chargers had the ball with 3:41 left in the game when a first down catch by Kellen Winslow was nullified by an offensive interference call. The catch had the Chargers on their own 38 yard line and first down, but San Diego was forced to punt two plays later setting up the tying field goal.

Week 5

San Diego 41, at New York Giants 34

Sunday, Oct. 2

The Chargers won their second game of the season but lost Dan Fouts to an injury that sidelined him for the final quarter of the game and forced Fouts to miss six other games. Both teams scored two touchdowns in the final 4:16 of the second quarter, with the Chargers leading 27-17 at halftime. Ed Luther replaced Fouts who sustained an injury to his right shoulder, with 4:31 remaining in the third quarter. Luther's first possession resulted in a 66-yard touchdown drive with Chuck Muncie scoring from the 2-yard line.

Week 6

San Diego 28, Seattle 21

Sunday, Oct. 9

After falling behind 21-0, the Chargers tied the game in the fourth quarter and held off the Seahawks with a game-winning interception that Andre Young returned 40 yards for a touchdown. Ed Luther completed his first career touchdown, a 12-yard strike to Kellen Winslow for the Chargers' first score of the game. Luther had replaced Dan Fouts with :42 left in the first half after Fouts injured his throwing hand. Fouts started the second half and hit Bobby Duckworth on a 59-yard bomb for a touchdown, the Chargers' longest pass play of the season. The decisive points were scored by the Chargers' defense with 2:04 left in the game when Young intercepted a Jim Zorn pass and raced untouched to a touchdown.

Week 7

At New England 37, San Diego 21 Sunday, Oct. 16

Dan Fouts reinjured his right shoulder after being hit by LB Andre Tippett while attempting to pass midway through the third quarter. Fouts, who completed the game, directed the Chargers to a 21-10 halftime lead. Important plays were a 40-yard touchdown pass, Fouts to Bobby Duckworth, and two 1-yard runs by James Brooks. The Patriots scored 24 unanswered points in the fourth quarter.

Week 8

At Denver 14, San Diego 6 Sunday, Oct. 23

Ed Luther started his first game at quarterback in place of the injured Dan Fouts. The Chargers also played without starters Chuck Muncie, Eric Sievers, Tim Fox, and Bob Gregor. The defense held the Broncos to 261 total yards while forcing four turnovers and sacking quarterback Steve DeBerg four times. The Chargers scored the first six points on Rolf Benirschke field goals and shut out the Broncos until the fourth quarter.

Washington 27, at San Diego 24

Monday, Oct. 31

The Chargers fell behind by 17 points but rallied to tie the game late in the fourth quarter. Ed Luther began the comeback with a 23-yard touchdown pass to Pete Holohan, the first touchdown reception of Holohan's career. Luther then took the Chargers 99 yards in 4 plays, ending with a 27-yard touchdown pass to Wes Chandler. A Rolf Benirschke field goal tied the game but Mark Moseley kicked a 37-yard field goal with :09 remaining to win the game for the Redskins.

At San Diego 24, Dallas 23

Sunday, Nov. 13

Quarterback Ed Luther had the biggest day of his career, completing 26 of 43 passing attempts for 340 yards and one touchdown to hand Dallas its second defeat of the season. The Chargers' first score came when free safety Miles McPherson blocked a punt, which was returned 21 yards for a touchdown by linebacker Derrie Nelson. The Chargers had not returned a blocked punt for a touchdown since Oct. 7, 1961. The one-point margin of victory was provided when Raphael Septien missed the extra point on the Cowboys' first score.

At St. Louis 44, San Diego 14

Sunday, Nov. 20

The Chargers had five straight possessions which resulted in turnovers and an onside kick recovered by the Cardinals, turning a 7-0 game into a 37-0 rout late in the second quarter. Ed Luther started in place of the injured Dan Fouts for the fifth consecutive week. Luther's 50 pass attempts were the most by a Charger in a regular-season game since John Hadl threw 52 times versus the Raiders Dec. 15, 1968.

Week 13

At San Diego 31, Denver 7

Sunday, Nov. 27

Quarterback Dan Fouts returned to the starting lineup after being sidelined for five weeks with a shoulder injury and led the Chargers to their most convincing victory of the season. The Chargers' defense had its best game since a 20-7 victory over the Kansas City Chiefs Nov. 16, 1980, recording four sacks and intercepting John Elway three times while allowing only 112 passing and 83 rushing yards. Rookie cornerback Danny Walters made two of the interceptions, giving him a total of six. The Broncos' only score came after a Fouts' fumble on the Chargers 21-yard line.

Week 14

Los Angeles Raiders 42, at San Diego 10

Monday, Dec. 1

The Chargers took a 10-0 lead on a Dan Fouts-to-Chuck Muncie, five-yard touchdown pass and a 24-yard field goal by Rolf Benirschke. A 43-yard touchdown pass from running back Marcus Allen to Todd Christensen put the Raiders on the board late in the second quarter. Los Angeles scored a total of 42 unanswered points. Cornerback Danny Walters tied a Chargers' rookie record with his seventh interception of the season. The record was set by Jim Hill in 1969.

Week 16

At Los Angeles Raiders 30, San Diego 14

Sunday, Dec. 18

Ed Luther started at quarterback in place of injured Dan Fouts and connected with Bobby Duckworth on a 40-yard touchdown pass to start the scoring. The touchdown marked Duckworth's fifth of the season on 20 receptions. Winslow had five receptions giving him 88 for the season and ranking him third in pass receiving in the National Football League. Marcus Allen's 8-yard scoring run tied the game and three Matt Bahr field goals gave the Raiders a lead they never relinquished.

THE NFL "MAN OF THE YEAR" CITIZEN-ATHLETE AWARD

A VERY SPECIAL HONOR

The NFL "Man of the Year" award, sponsored by Lite Beer from Miller, has been created to honor the outstanding "Citizen Athlete" of the National Football League. The NFL "Man of the Year" is not only a great football player, he's a man who has given freely of his time and energy to make significant contributions to his community. Selected by sports fans throughout the country, a top player from each NFL team is chosen, with the "Man of the Year" announced at the 1983 Pro Bowl.

WINNING TEAMWORK

Only you can help make your favorite Charger the winner of the NFL's most prestigious community award. Through your voting in 1983, Rolf Benirschke was named the NFL "Man of the Year" and Lite Beer from Miller donated $5,000 to college scholarship funds in his name. Again in 1984, Lite Beer from Miller will donate $36,000 to college scholarship funds through the 28 NFL teams.

BOB GREGOR

OFF THE FIELD: Bob's involvement in the community started upon his arrival in San Diego in 1980. His association with the Fellowship of Christian Athletes led Bob to a deep community devotion. He has worked closely with the March of Dimes in organizing fund-raisers. He has worked on fund-raisers for Multiple Sclerosis, the Arthritis Foundation, United Cerebral Palsy, and the San Diego Zoo's Endangered Species. The Boys' Clubs, Boy Scouts, and schools of San Diego have all benefited from Bob's public service.

LINDEN KING

OFF THE FIELD: Linden has channeled a countless number of his off hours into a great variety of community projects. Along with a budding singing and acting career, Linden has been working with the San Diego Police Department and the California Narcotics Bureau educating people about the dangers of drug abuse. He also serves as the spokesman for the San Diego Humane Society, the local Big Brothers, and the San Diego Burn Institute. Linden's musical abilities have been highlighted at several fund-raisers for the Child Abuse Prevention Foundation and the Children's Home Society.

DOUG WILKERSON

OFF THE FIELD: Over the past fifteen years, Doug has developed a reputation as one of the most concerned citizens on the San Diego Chargers. Doug works locally as a Sales Representative for Mesa Distributors while spending time as co-chairman for the Chargers' Penny-a-Point program benefitting Children's Hospital. He also risked life and limb by getting into the boxing ring with heavyweight champion Larry Holmes to raise money for a local San Diego youth injured in a boxing match. Doug's commitment extends beyond San Diego; he served on the annual NFL/USO tour, visiting military bases in the Far East in 1980. Doug also donates extensive time to the San Diego Chamber of Commerce, Campership Council, Kidney Foundation, March of Dimes, and the Heart Association.
